

Beauty Heaven Hub: visit pack, Thursday 1 October, 11:00

Print this. It is for you only.

Already done before the visit

- Meta Business portfolio: already verified.
- Phorest API request: sent. Chase the reply if nothing has come back.
- Jobs message sent. Replies so far: Jess keeps the one L3 Matrix admin login (we get a student account); Jess adds a Phorest user when she is in the salon; Jess has full access to the domain (GoDaddy); Jess is setting up Google Drive; Hollie is doing YouTube and TikTok.
- Wix is not being used. No access needed.

Bring

- This pack and the interview script, printed.
- Laptop and charger. A phone charger for them (login codes).
- Good Work's Meta Business ID (Business Settings > Business info), so Jess can add you as a partner.
- The idea sheet (`content-idea-sheet.md`) in a Google Doc, ready to share at the end.

Run sheet (about 90 minutes plus a 30-minute break)

Say up front: "I need about an hour and a half with a short break. If we run out, we'll finish another day." Ask how long they really have, and plan to that.

Order	What	Time
1	Website part, short list: A1 who is answering, A2 the goal, A3 the mock-up, A5 location (Hoddesdon or Wombwell), A7 prices, A9 proof, A11 how the Academy works, A13 contact and rules, A16 approvals and launch date	15 min
2	How the practitioners work: C1 to C10, all of them. Ask neutrally, note disagreements by name.	15 min
	Break, 30 minutes. Before it, have them copy the ChatGPT blocks and send them to you. Write down what stood out.
3	Access setup (list below). WhatsApp first.	25 min
4	Bookings part: B1 to B7, B9, B10, B12, B13, B14. (B8 is covered by the ten client questions, B11 by the sent request.)	20 to 25 min
5	Close: hand over the idea sheet, agree the pillars call (Friday or Monday, their choice), ask the Academy question.	5 min

Leave for them at home, or for us to draft and them to approve: A4, A6, A8, A10, A12.

If time runs short: WhatsApp setup, then Part C, then the phone provider, forwarding, consultation rules and call recording. Everything else can go to a short call.

Access setup (tick and date)

Jess or Hollie do every click on their own device. You watch. Never take a password. Always Manager, never Owner.

- ☒ Meta Business portfolio verified

- ☐ Confirm who is admin on the portfolio, and that the Facebook Page and both Instagram accounts (beautyheavenuk, beautyheavenacademy) are in it
- ☐ Instagram accounts are Professional accounts linked to the Facebook Page
- ☐ WhatsApp Business account added in the portfolio on the new number (never used on WhatsApp); display name submitted
- ☐ Good Work added as a partner: content and WhatsApp only, no ads, no payments
- ☐ YouTube Brand Account channel, Good Work added as Manager (Hollie)
- ☐ TikTok business account, and how we get access (Hollie)
- ☐ Google Drive folder shared with Good Work (Jess). We add Inbox, Approved and the consent sheet
- ☐ GoDaddy delegate access for Good Work (Jess). Change nothing in DNS until the current records are saved (their email runs on Microsoft 365)
- ☐ Phorest: a limited Good Work user (Jess, when in the salon). Chase the API reply
- ☐ L3 Matrix: a student account for Good Work
- ☐ Google Business Profile: Good Work invited as Manager
- ☐ Phone provider: who it is, and who can ask them to forward unanswered and out-of-hours calls
- ☐ Consultation app: its name and what they pay

Ask to see

- The ten questions clients ask most (both of them).
- The new SIM for WhatsApp, and which email is the main business one.
- Rough calls a day, and how many are missed.
- How a phone booking is taken and entered in Phorest.
- A Phorest client card: does it hold photos or forms? The Phorest reports if they have them (sales by staff, booking source, no-shows, lapsed clients).
- The consultation app (screen only, no client data).
- The salon's insurance certificate.
- Where the photos and videos live, who took them, and whether practitioners are happy for the salon to use them.

The Academy, asked honestly

- "Walk me through what happens when someone wants a course, from the first message to the last day, so the website explains it properly."
- "When someone finishes, what do they get, and what does it say on it?" Note the answer exactly. Don't react.
- "Which courses are running right now, and are the dates up?"
- Closing question, once: "Down the line, would you want to talk about whether marketing the Academy would be worth doing? No rush. If yes, I'll show you exactly what it would cost and include, with every number on the table."

Don't call accreditation a problem, don't mention rebuilding courses, don't price anything.

Content, for the pillars call (don't run it today)

- Four fixed pillars: What actually happens; The people and the place; The Academy; Care and practical. Plus a weekly surprise pillar from questions the bot asks them.
- Volume: 1 post a day, 1 Story a day, 3 reels a week, 2 blogs a week, approved in one weekly batch.
- They pick the bot's name (ideas: Halo, Angel, Cloud, Hebe, Honey).

Rules for the day

- Don't quote prices or fee changes. Don't raise practitioner fees or memberships.
- No medical, legal, tax or employment advice: "I'll come back to you on that."
- Don't photograph client names, addresses or photos.
- Write down exactly what they say, especially where Jess and Hollie disagree.
- Tell them the build goes live in stages: the site first, the assistants once Phorest and WhatsApp are approved.
